Undisclosed Location combines powerful original compositions and arrangements with outstanding musicianship, and is the much anticipated debut album of pianist Dan Murphy. The five Murphy compositions highlight complex aspects of the human experience: the intensity of constant war (IncurSION), the elusiveness of peace (Song for Peace), the plans and decisions of world leaders (Undisclosed Location), addictions and fast-paced lifestyles (Temporary Fix), and the positive energy within the human spirit (Kristine). Murphy also arranged two lesser-known standards, Yesterday's Gardenias and There Goes My Heart. Bassist Kurt Kotheimer contributes the light-yet-aggressive Drinion, and Murphy's long-time friend and mentor, Teddy Pantelas, penned the deeply emotional Bill's Peace in honor of Bill Evans.

Undisclosed Location showcases two fantastically energetic groups of musicians that provide an exceptional arena for syncopation, conversation, and musicality. Murphy enlists the help of two bass/drum combinations, Matt Perko/Kip Reed and Nathan Douds/Kurt Kotheimer, and they are augmented by expert hornmen on four tracks: Chris Anderson on trombone, Chris Burge on tenor sax, and Bobby Selvaggio twice on alto. Each musician's contribution is a unique piece of the masterful puzzle Murphy has created.

Undisclosed Location exhibits the high-level of experience Murphy has attained working with a wide array of local and national acts and showcases his ability to excel in different jazz styles. Having been on the scene for over a decade in both Cleveland and now Chicago, Murphy has a solid connection to his instrument and combines strong pianistic technique with spontaneous, thoughtful improvisation.
