Until Further Notice is the debut release from saxophonist and composer Spenser Liszt. Backed by Addison Frei on keys, Perrin Grace on bass, and Matt Young on drums (a.k.a. label mates AMP Trio), Liszt covers vast musical ground from the intense to the sublime.

Until Further Notice opens contemplatively with the odd metered Hyperbolic Time Chamber where Liszt plays an ascending saxophone melody over commentary from the rhythm section. Relief features vocals layered on top of a killer groove provided by drums and bass while the album's title track consists of acoustic piano and sustained bass laying a haunting foundation while drums pull what lies beneath onto the surface.

Mr. David, written about Liszt's late father, to whom this album is dedicated, is a haunting tribute while Troll Dance delivers on its title with menacing, descending lines in a deceiving mixed meter that creates in one's mind, a bunch of trolls getting down.

Liszt's group is a tour de force, presenting Until Further Notice as a beautifully unified album that will inspire listeners to press repeat.
